

Brokerage Risk Management Essentials: Is your website doing more harm than good?

Your brokerage's website is your "business card" to the world. Well-managed, it can be the cornerstone of your operational and marketing strategy. If not, it can and will be used to strengthen a claimant's E&O case against you.

The Swiss Re Corporate Solutions claims team has seen an increasingly emerging issue stemming from this evolving part of your business. Seemingly harmless content on your website, emphasizing competitive advantages or certain expertise, can very quickly and unintentionally increase the brokerage's standard of care resulting in a higher duty than normally required. That can be detrimental to your defence in a claim situation. To help mitigate the risk of an increased standard of care, we consulted risk management professionals with expertise in this area. Their suggestions are shown below. We hope you find these useful in creating and reviewing your brokerage website's content.

REMEMBER: Risk Management starts before the sale

$\bigotimes$	Don't say the brokerage does things or provides services it does not do or provide.
$\bigotimes$	Don't say that you can ensure that any claim will be fully covered.
$\bigotimes$	Don't use terms such as "expert", "specialists", "best price", "most comprehensive", "fully covered", or "partner".
$\bigotimes$	Avoid terms promising absolutes such as "immediate response time", "ALL lines of insurance", "all risk", "24/7", "all carriers", "addressing ALL of your coverage needs", "constantly reviewing".
$\bigotimes$	Don't include client testimonials that show the clients' names and identifying information without being sure the testimonial is specific to their experience thus avoiding an increase in your standard of care. Be sure to have their express written permission, along with a procedure to remove their testimonial if they are no longer a customer.
$\bigotimes$	Don't launch a website without carefully reviewing the language, with an E&O risk management eye. Template brokerage websites or advertising firms simply may not have E&O on their radar. Involve your legal counsel in reviewing the language.
$\bigotimes$	Don't have a quote mechanism (form-fill or Rater) and then fail to respond in a timely manner.
$\bigotimes$	Don't use open text boxes for customers to type messages to you unless adequately encrypted. You have no control over the information entered in the text box. If a breach occurs during transmission of that message, your brokerage may be held liable for the release of Personal Identifying Information.
